

NASHVILLE ASPIRING SCHOOL LEADER FELLOWSHIP

Empowering Futures, Equipping Leaders

Nashville Aspiring School Leader Fellowship (NASLF) is designed to recruit, train, and support school leaders who envision leading schools where all students, regardless of their background, ability, or socioeconomic status, will have equal access to quality education.

DEADLINE - MARCH 31, 2025

What you'll receive:

Earn your administrator credentials through Lipscomb University, one of Tennessee's top educator preparation programs.

Gain hands-on leadership experience at Teach For America Nashville-Chattanooga's pre-service teacher training.

Receive mentorship from experienced, effective school leaders. Gain career and job placement support in pursuit of leadership roles.

REQUIREMENTS

- Have at least 4 full years of certificated teaching experience in PK-12 by end of coursework
- Provide demonstrated evidence of educator effectiveness (i.e. TEAM, LOE, TVAAS, etc)
- Meet requirements for admission to Lipscomb University M.Ed. or Ed.S. programs.
- Commit to working towards educational equity for all students in a school leadership role
- Support TFA pre-service teacher training & Corps Member development in leadership roles

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

FLEXIBILITY - New for this year: online asynchronous Lipscomb classes for M.Ed. and Ed.S. programs
AFFORDABILITY - $10,000 tuition for M.Ed. or Ed.S. program ($2,500 per semester)
LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT - Leadership coaching & in-person cohort leadership experiences
CAREER COACHING - Resume review, interview prep, headshots, and career coaching
FINANCIAL SUPPORT - $4,000 tuition credit after two semesters, $2,500+ earned through summer employment, $1,000+ in books and testing reimbursements, $2,500+ in leadership & career support

$10,000+ worth of benefits

Estimated $3,500 out-of-pocket cost

DEADLINE - MARCH 31, 2025

Questions? Contact Jeff Takiue, Director of Alumni Leadership at jeff.takiue@teachforamerica.org

